

AT ANY STAGE OF LIFE, SAVERS NEED CERTAINTY

American workers of all ages need help reaching their goal of a secure, comfortable retirement. Fortunately, Congress is now considering pension reform that has something to offer for everyone—from this month's graduate to the near-retiree.

Higher contribution limits for Individual Retirement Accounts will help younger workers save, even when they don't have employer pension coverage.

Increased savings limits for 401(k)s will benefit workers throughout their careers.

Catch-up contributions will give older workers the opportunity they need to boost their savings at a time of life when childrearing, college, and other financial needs have diminished.

All workers need the certainty of knowing that the savings incentives of the 2001 Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act will always be there—today, tomorrow, and beyond.

CONGRESS CAN ACT NOW TO HELP WORKERS
AT EVERY STAGE OF LIFE.

MAKE EGTRRA'S SAVINGS INCENTIVES PERMANENT.
